RE: CBOE Livevol Assumption of MDX Historical Market Data Subscriptions

CBOE Futures Exchange, LLC (CFE) is issuing this circular to advise subscribers and others interested in obtaining historical CFE market data of a change to the manner in which this data will be made available.

Effective January 6, 2017, historical CFE market data will be made available by CBOE Livevol, LLC (CBOE Livevol) instead of by Market Data Express, LLC (MDX). On that date, subscriptions to historical CFE market data from MDX will be transitioned to the CBOE Livevol Data Shop, and the MDX website and FTP site will no longer be available. In preparation for trouble-free access to historical market data after the transition, customers should download sample data from the CBOE Livevol Data Shop website at <https://datashop.cboe.com> and make any necessary system adjustments before the transition date.

MDX subscription administration has already been transferred, so you may visit the CBOE Livevol Data Shop website at <https://datashop.cboe.com/> to obtain, renew, or adjust subscriptions to historical CFE market data. Existing MDX customers whose current subscriptions extend beyond January 6, 2017 will have their current MDX subscriptions automatically migrated to CBOE Livevol Data Shop and will receive a notice with further details.

Going forward, MDX subscribers should contact CBOE Livevol support at support@livevol.com or (800) 307-8979 for more information about the transition or to get help with any MDX or CBOE Livevol support matters.

The fees for historical CFE market data set forth in CFE's Fee Schedule are not changing. CFE will be issuing a revised CFE Fee Schedule effective on January 6, 2017 which will amend Footnotes 41 and 42 of the CFE Fee Schedule to reflect that CFE historical market data will now be made available by CBOE Livevol instead of by MDX.
